

WEEKLY MARKET PRICES REPORT FOR THE WEEK ENDING
13TH MAY, 2022

1.0 Introduction

Generally, the prices of commodities in the market have kept on rising as a result of increased prices of fuel and scarcity of raw materials for production due to economic turbulences across the world.

Being outside the maize harvesting season, the wholesale prices of a 90Kgs bag have shot to as high as Kshs. 4500 and Kshs. 4800 as traded in Hamisi and Butere in Lake Western region. The Minimum Farm gate and Wholesale prices was Kshs. 2430 and Kshs. 2650 as was traded in Kehancha making the National average Farm gate and Wholesale prices to be Kshs.3629 and Kshs.3863 respectively.

However, the market prices of fertilizer have stagnated for the past seven weeks since the subsidized fertilizer was availed to the farmers. There are also a significant number of farmers purchasing fertilizer through the e-voucher system at Ward levels.

2.0 Weather - Light to moderate rainfall is expected over some parts of the Highlands East of the Rift Valley, the Coast, the Highlands West of the Rift Valley, the Lake Victoria Basin and the Central and South Rift Valley

Strong south-easterly winds with speeds exceeding 25knots (12.9m/s) are likely to occur over some parts of North-eastern and North-western Kenya.

3.0 Maize

The prices of maize have gone up due to the scarcity of the produce in the market. This is the right time to sell out the stocked maize for the profit margins might not get better than they are at the moment with the existing prices. The Lake Western Region has highly randomized prices; experiencing both the highest and the lowest prices across the country in Butere and Kehancha respectively (See Annex 1).
